Introduction

Archaeological Heritage of the Lenggong Valley (AHLV) was inscribed as World Heritage Site by United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO) on 30 June 2012 under the 1972 Convention Concerning the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage. This site was inscribed during the 36th session of the World Heritage Committee in Saint Petersburg Russia, becoming the 4th UNESCO World Heritage Site in Malaysia.

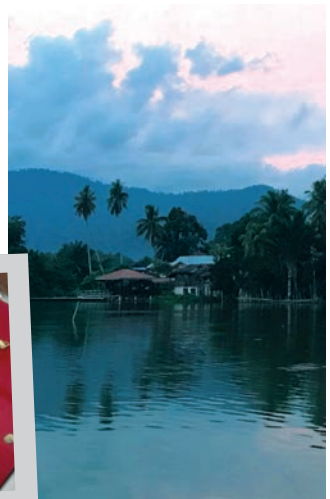

AHLV contains evidence in open-air and cave sites along the Perak River spanning all the periods of hominid history outside Africa from 1.83 million to 1,700 years ago. Undisturbed in-situ Paleolithic stone tool workshops are located on the shores of a paleolake and ancient river gravel beds and dated in a long chronological sequence. One of the most significant discoveries in the Lenggong Valley is a skeleton named the Perak Man discovered in Gua Gunung Runtu. Perak Man is the oldest most complete human skeleton found in Southeast Asia.
